

Monday, June 05, 2006

Media Release

Toll's acquisition of Patrick

Toll has committed to the continuation of all Patrick Air Services business activities, now that it has control of Patrick operations.

While Toll will re-brand the Patrick Air Services business, it supports the ongoing investment in and management of the recently awarded handling contracts for Singapore Airlines and United Airlines, as well as other existing airline customers in Australia.

Toll also aims to attract new business through continued investment in materials handling equipment (cargo), IT, ramp and engineering ground support equipment.

Patrick Air Services currently provides passenger and ramp services, cargo handling and engineering support for customer airlines in all the major airports in Australia including Sydney, Melbourne, Brisbane, Adelaide, Perth, Darwin, Cairns and Townsville.

Toll also has significant operations across Australia, New Zealand and Asia which will provide customers with a genuine opportunity for total ground operations support.

For more information on Toll, please visit www.tollgroup.com .